AN ELOPEMENT.

Usually an elopement takes place before the wedding but this one was entirely unique in that the chief characters in this romance were married first and then slipped away from the midst of the merry-making crowd, stole quietly down the back stairs and escaped the fire and the old shoes, upsetting all of the time-honored customs and the equilibrium of their friends who had planned to give them the greatest "go away" ever accorded a newly wed couple in this city.

At six o'clock on Tuesday evening the near relatives and most intimate friends of the two families gathered at the home on Copper avenue to witness the marriage of Miss Helen Hope to Mr. Lester Cooper. The Hope home was beautifully decorated with palms and potted plants with huge bouquets of pink and white flowers. Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, father of the groom, officiated. After the ceremony the newlyweds went upstairs to get ready for their wedding journey, which they had most carefully planned for the benefit of all who might be interested. Suitcases were piled in the hall to be taken to the train, and while the guests made merry downstairs Mr. and Mrs. Cooper quietly made their way down the back stairs and to a car awaiting them on the corner. Mr. Arthur Sisk being chief conductor in getting them away. As train time drew near and the couple had not yet made their appearance a committee respectfully awaited their pleasure and ascended to tell them it was train time. When they returned to the waiting guests to tell them that the newlyweds were not to be found a mad rush was made to the automobiles which whisked them to the station, and great was their chagrin when they found that the train was actually leaving with no bride and groom on board. But the fun was not to be spoiled in this manner and two of the groom's dear friends climbed on and went to Bernalillo expecting that the Coopers would take the train there, but upon their arrival in that fair city there would be found no trace of the runaway couple. So it was that the young men to walk back or do something equally as frivolous, so they phoned to Albuquerque for a taxi, arriving here in the wee sma' hours. It only remains to relate that the couple were in Santa Fe having a wedding feast at the De Vargas and listening to the story of the party at the train as it was told most fluently by one of Albuquerque's rising young barristers who happened to be going up to Santa Fe on the same train that carried the enthusiastic young friends with pockets full of rice to Bernalillo.

The Coopers were last heard from in Santa Fe. After a few weeks of motor touring across the country they will return to Albuquerque where they will be at home after the first of August in the pretty bungalow now being erected for them at Rouse and Kelleher avenue.

KENNETH BURTON.

"O perfect love, all human thought transcending,
Lowly we kneel in prayer before thy throne,
That theirs may be the love that knows no ending,
Whom Thou forevermore dost join in one."

This was the beautiful marriage hymn sung for Miss Beryl Kenworthy and Mr. John Knorr Burton, Jr., of Pueblo, Colorado, whose marriage was solemnized at the home of Mrs. F. P. Kenworthy of West Fruit avenue, at half past ten o'clock Wednesday morning. The singer was Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford, whose interpretation of the beautiful hymn was school in the hearts of those present. This was followed by the wedding march, "Beloved it is Morn," by Aylward, also sung by Mrs. Bradford and as the notes floated out the bride and her attendants came down the aisle which was interwoven with garlands of roses. First two young girls, Margaret Enderby and Cora Ward entered carrying the ribbon streamers which made the aisle through which the party entered, next came the Rev. Hugh A. Cooper and following him the groom and his best man, Mr. Wm. R. McClure, and immediately preceding the bride, the ring bearer, little Miss Vivian Fletcher. The lovely bride entered up the arm of her uncle, Mr. J. B. Kenworthy of Colorado Springs. During the ceremony soft music sounded, Mrs. Walsh, a dear friend and a pupil of the bride being at the piano.

The wedding while simple in detail was beautiful and impressive. Only near relatives and friends were present. The bride had chosen for her wedding white and pink and the home was decorated with pink and white flowers in hanging bouquets and beautiful vases. The little girls wore pink dresses and ribbons. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine with a bolero of old family lace. The tulle veil was caught up with graceful sprays of lilies-of-the-valley and her bouquet was a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

An informal reception followed. Dainty refreshments were served by girl friends of the bride, and the wedding cake, which was a wonderful creation being decorated with crystallized pink sweet peas, was cut by the bride and distributed among the guests to eat or to dream on as they chose.

Three Views of Marriage

WHEN a modern maiden marries, in delightful dreams she carries; As her fancy easily shifts To the thoughts of wedding gifts, Every friend who would be pleasant "Most," she muses, "send a present; All acquaintances must pay Tax upon my marriage day. Fans and furs and rare old lace, Gold embellished dressing cases, Rings and brooches, silver mugs, Entree dishes, clover jugs— Tables will with these be laden When I marry," glints the maiden.

When a modern bachelor marries, In his heart grim fear he carries, "With," he thinks, "our income small We don't want such gifts at all; There's that grand piano—gracious! That involves a house more spacious; Then that dressing bag, alas! That can only go first-class! Silver center dish and cup, too, How can we such things live up to? Every present of pretense Means for me increased expense. Would that I such gifts could ban When I marry," thinks the man.

When a man and maiden marry, Hearts of lead their friends all carry; Custom, as they know, demands Costly presents at their hands; Ostentation, too, coerces, So they empty out their purses, Fearful lest their names be missed From the always published list, But in private, in a passion, They denounce the sordid fashion, Crying in most bitter strain, "Only fancy, heaven again! Bah! 'Tis an event to dread When a man and maiden wed," —London's Truth.

In the receiving line assisting Mrs. Roddy besides Miss Kenworthy were Mrs. E. L. Bradford, Mrs. Mable Stevens-Hime and Mrs. George H. Wheeler. Notable Visitors Will Speak at Two Meetings Monday.

Two meetings will be held Monday which will have vital interest for the mothers of Albuquerque. The first will take place in the Woman's Club at 2:30 Monday afternoon, and the second at the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock Monday night. Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia, national president of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers associations, and first vice-president Mrs. Orville T. Bright of Chicago, will speak at both meetings. Musical numbers will complete the programs.

Mrs. Schoff and Mrs. Bright will arrive in Albuquerque tomorrow night. They were scheduled to reach this city a week ago, but were forced to change their plans by other engagements. They will be guests of Mrs. John W. Wilson while in the city.

The Monday afternoon meeting will be devoted especially to the child welfare movement, while the Monday evening meeting will be devoted to the general purposes of the two groups or organizations of which these ladies are the leaders. The parents of Albuquerque, teachers and all who are interested in children, are cordially invited. The public will be made welcome. Mrs. E. L. Bradford will have charge of the music for the evening meeting, while Mrs. Donovan will take charge of the musical features for the afternoon program.

The afternoon meeting at the Woman's Club will begin promptly at 2:30 and immediately after it the various women's organizations of Albuquerque will unite in a reception to the distinguished visitors to which everyone is cordially invited. The organizations taking part in the reception include the Woman's Club, the Tuesday Literary Club, the Parent-Teachers association and the Fortnightly Music Club.

The aims of the two organizations represented by Mrs. Schoff and Mrs. Bright are:

To carry the mother-love and mother-thought into all that concerns or touches childhood in home, school, church or state; to raise the standards of home life; to develop wiser, better trained parenthood; to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parent and teacher may co-operate intelligently in the education of the child; using systematic, earnest effort to this end and to the formation of mothers' clubs and parent-teacher associations in connection with public schools and elsewhere.

To promote the establishment of kindergarten and of laws which will adequately care for neglected and dependent children; to secure such legislation as will insure that children of tender years may not be tried in ordinary courts, but that each town shall establish a juvenile court and special officers whose duty it shall be to care for the child that he shall be rescued from, rather than confined in, evil ways.

To work for such probationary care in individual homes rather than institutions.

To give young people, ignorant of the proper care and training of children, opportunities to learn that which will enable them to better perform the duties of parenthood.

To promote high ideals of marriage and the maintenance of its sacredness and permanence.

To interest men and women to co-operate in the work for purer, truer homes, in the belief that to accomplish the best results men and women must work together.

To rouse the whole country to a sense of its duty and responsibility to childhood.

To surround the childhood of the whole world with that loving, wise care in the impressionable years of life, that will develop good citizens, instead of law-breakers and criminals.

HOUSE MEMBER MARRIES.
Robert C. Dow, member of the last legislature from Carlsbad, was married Wednesday in Fort Worth, Texas, to Miss Jessie Henderson of Corsicana, Texas. They will be at home in Carlsbad soon, where Mr. Dow is engaged in the practice of law.

A MESSENGER FROM MEXICO.
Miss Peters, who has been stationed at Guadalajara, Mexico, as a missionary, is in the city at present. Miss Peters came out of Mexico last fall as a refugee and has had some very thrilling experiences during the revolutions in Mexico and on her way out. At present she will do missionary work under Bishop Howden's direction until the time comes when she can again take up her mission work in Guadalajara. Miss Peters is a Kentuckian by birth, but has been out of the state a number of years, first as a teacher and later as a missionary. She is stopping at the Y. W. C. A.

Another interesting story comes from Dr. Green, who came from Mexico in January. Dr. Green and his wife were five days on mule-back across the Sierras, and five more days from Durango by rail to the frontier. After a short stay in Albuquerque they left the early part of last week for the San Pedro Mines, where Dr. Green has the position of company physician.
